State below in reasonable detail why Forms 10-K, 20-F, 11-K, 10-Q, 10-D, N-SAR, N-CSR, or the transition report or portion thereof, could not be filed within the prescribed time period.

As previously announced, the board of directors of CNET Networks (CNET or the Company) has established a special committee of independent directors (the Special Committee) to review the Company s stock option practices and related accounting. The Special Committee was assisted by independent counsel and outside accounting experts.

On October 11, 2006 the Company announced that the Special Committee had reported its findings on the Company s options granting practices and procedures to the Company s Board of Directors. Key findings of the Special Committee s report are summarized in a press release issued by the Company and included as an exhibit to the Company s Current Report on form 8-K filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission on October 11, 2006.

The Company and its independent auditors are reviewing the findings of the Special Committee report. Management continues to expect that CNET will need to restate its historical financial statements to record non-cash charges for stock compensation expense relating to past stock option grants. The Company and its independent auditors are reviewing recent accounting guidance published by the SEC and have not yet determined the amount of such charges, the resulting tax and accounting impact, or which periods may require restatement.

CNET plans to file its Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the quarter ended September 30, 2006 as soon as practicable, but does not expect that it will be filed on or before the fifth calendar day following the required filing date as prescribed in Rule 12b-25. The Company will not be in a position to file its Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the quarter ended September 30, 2006 until the completion of its financial restatements related to CNET s independent investigation of stock option granting practices and of the requisite audit procedures by CNET s independent registered public accountants.
