Senior executive appointments announced

Edgar Filing: NATIONAL AUSTRALIA BANK LTD - Form 6-K

National Australia Bank's Chief Executive Officer, John Stewart, today announced a range of executive appointments to accelerate the transformation of the National and the implementation of its strategic agenda.

The new appointments are:

Gordon Lefevre, previously General Manager, Personal Financial Services Australia has been appointed Deputy Group Chief Financial Officer, and will report to the National's Group Chief Financial Officer, Michael Ullmer. In his new role, Gordon will join the Group Executive Committee.

Andrew Thorburn, previously Group Executive, Retail Business at St George Bank, will join the National to head up the new retail banking division. He will report to the CEO for Australia, Ahmed Fahour, and will be a member of the Australian Executive Committee.

Graeme Willis, who has been acting Group Chief Risk Officer for most of 2004, is being appointed to the newly created role of Group General Manager, Regulatory Affairs, overseeing the National's relationships with regulators across the Group. Graeme will report to the Group Chief Risk Officer, Mike Hamar.

Gavin Slater, who was previously Group General Manager, responsible for the implementation of the remedial actions out of the foreign currency options trading losses, has been appointed Executive Director, National Australia Group Europe. Gavin will report to the CEO, Europe, Lynne Peacock. In working with Lynne to lead the business, he will have a particular focus on the back office and support areas, including key projects.

Gavin Slater, who was previously Group General Manager, responsible for the implementation of the remedial actions out of the foreign currency options trading losses, has been appointed Executive Director, National Australia Group Europe. Gavin will report to the CEO, Europe, Lynne Peacock. In working with Lynne to lead the business, he will have a particular focus on the back office and support areas, including key projects.

Mr Stewart said the changes were being made to ensure the right people were in the right positions to help build the new National and rebuild its reputation with stakeholders.

The decision to create the role of Group General Manager, Regulatory Affairs reflects the importance of our relationships with regulators in every region in which we operate. This is particularly the case with the range of remedial actions we are currently undertaking across the Group. While we have considerably improved relationships with the regulators this year, it is critical that this continues.

Over the longer term, the increased compliance and regulatory environment facing all finance industry organisations means having strong relationships with regulators in every part of our business is critical to our success.

At the end of October, I announced that Lynne Peacock would be returning to London to take up the position of Chief Executive Officer, Europe, to focus on transforming our European businesses. This is clearly a significant and challenging task.

Gavin has demonstrated exceptional leadership in implementing complex programs across the Group. I am confident that his skills and experience will be a great support to Lynne in implementing the range of initiatives that will be required to improve the performance of our European operations, he said.

Mr Stewart welcomed the appointment of Gordon Lefevre as Deputy Group Chief Financial Officer.

With 16 years experience in the financial services industry, gained from working in international banking, retail banking, mergers and acquisitions, finance and strategy, Gordon is an excellent appointment.

Prior to his role with Personal Financial Services, Gordon has made a significant contribution to the National in senior finance roles based in Australia, the US and Europe, said Mr Stewart.

We are also very excited to have Andrew Thorburn starting with us in January 2005 to lead our retail banking efforts in Gordon's place. He joins us from St George Bank to take up the role of Head of Retail Banking Australia.

Andrew is an experienced business leader, having previously held senior roles in personal banking, marketing and sales and service at the Commonwealth Bank and ASB Bank in New Zealand, Mr Stewart said.
