Dear Valued Customer,

I am pleased to inform you that CBOE Holdings, Inc. announced today that we entered into a definitive agreement to acquire Bats Global Markets, Inc. This is an exciting transaction that should strengthen CBOE Holdings' global position in innovative tradable products and services. Our enthusiasm for this acquisition is fueled by our strong belief that it will enable CBOE Holdings to better serve our marketplace, and you, our valued customers.

CBOE Holdings and Bats have different businesses that are highly complementary, and we believe bringing them together will be the source of many of the benefits from the transaction. The acquisition of Bats is expected to diversify our menu of products to include U.S. and European cash equities, global ETPs and global FX and broaden our global customer reach through Bats' strong pan-European position. Through this transaction, we plan to incorporate the functionality offered by both technology platforms and migrate onto the proprietary Bats' system, ultimately enabling customers to trade through a single platform. Additionally, we intend to use Bats' market data expertise to expand our customer reach and create new index services.

We believe that the complementary nature of Bats and CBOE Holdings' respective offerings and strengths and a shared passion for innovation will enhance our ability to create products and services that better enable our customers to respond to the opportunities and demands in an evolving global marketplace.

Our aim is to make your trading experience more efficient and user-friendly by writing to a single, state-of-the-art technology platform and creating a consistent trading experience across our markets. Further, the CBOE trading floor will remain open to serve our CBOE options market.

Today's announcement represents just the first step in completing this transaction, which we expect to close in the first half of 2017 following the necessary regulatory clearance and approval process. Our entire team remains committed to providing you with superior customer service throughout this process, and we look forward to providing you an expanded suite of products and services after the transaction closes.
