Investment description

Unlike ordinary debt securities, the securities do not pay interest or repay a fixed amount of principal at maturity.

Instead, the securities provide for a payment at maturity that may be greater than, equal to or less than the initial public offering price of the securities, depending on the performance of the Index from its Initial Index Level to its Final Index Level.

The payment at maturity will reflect the following terms:

o If the level of the Index increases:

You will receive the initial public offering price plus 150% participation in the upside performance of the Index, subject to a maximum total return at maturity of 51% of the initial public offering price

o If the level of the Index stays unchanged or decreases but the decrease is not more than 15%:

You will be repaid the initial public offering price

o If the level of the Index decreases by more than 15%:

You will receive less than the initial public offering price and will have 1-to-1 downside exposure to any decrease in the level of the Index in excess of 15%.

· Investors may lose up to 85% of the initial public offering price

All payments on the securities are subject to the credit risk of Royal Bank of Canada, and you will have no ability to pursue the issuer of any securities represented by the Index for payment; if Royal Bank of Canada defaults on its obligations, you could lose some or all of your investment

· No periodic interest payments or dividends

· No exchange listing; designed to be held to maturity

The issuer's initial estimated value of the securities as of the date of the accompanying pricing supplement is $940.57 per $1,000 in principal amount, which is less than the public offering price. The market value of the securities at any time will reflect many factors, cannot be predicted with accuracy, and may be less than this amount. See "Risk Factors" and "Supplemental Plan of Distribution – Structuring the Securities" in the accompanying pricing supplement for further information

The securities have complex features and investing in the securities involves risks not associated with an investment in conventional debt securities. See "Selected Risk Considerations" in this term sheet and "Risk Factors" in the accompanying pricing supplement and prospectus supplement.

This final term sheet should be read in conjunction with the accompanying pricing supplement, prospectus supplement and prospectus.

Hypothetical payout profile

The profile to the right is based on the maximum maturity payment amount of 151.00% of the principal amount or $1,510.00 per $1,000 security, a participation rate of 150% and a Buffer Level equal to 85% of the Initial Index Level. This graph has been prepared for purposes of illustration only. Your actual return will depend on the actual Final Index Level and whether you hold your securities to maturity.

(1) This is the hypothetical Buffer Level.

(2) This is the hypothetical Initial Index Level.

(3) This is the maximum maturity payment amount of $1,510.00.

How the maturity payment amount is calculated

The maturity payment amount will be determined as follows:

· If the Final Index Level is greater than the Initial Index Level, the maturity payment amount per security will equal the lesser of:

(i) $1,000 plus

(ii) the maximum maturity payment amount

· If the Final Index Level is equal to or less than the Initial Index Level but greater than or equal to the Buffer Level, the maturity payment amount per security will equal the issue price of $1,000.00

· If the Final Index Level is less than the Buffer Level, the maturity payment amount per security will equal: $1,000 -

In such a case, you will lose up to 85% of your principal.
