Item 7.01. Regulation FD Disclosure.

The following information is furnished pursuant to Regulation FD.

Emerson GAAP Underlying Orders – 3 Month Summary
(Percent change. Trailing 3-month average versus prior year.)

	April ‘10	May ‘10	June ‘10
Process Management	+5 to +10	-5	0
Industrial Automation	>+20	>+20	>+20
Network Power	+5 to +10	+5 to +10	+10
Climate Technologies	>+20	>+20	>+20
Appliance and Tools	+5 to +10	+5 to +10	+5 to +10
Total Emerson	+15 to +20	+10 to +15	+10 to +15

June 2010 Order Comments:

Order growth remained strong for the three months ended in June versus a period of easier comparisons in the prior year. Currency exchange rates negatively impacted orders by approximately 5 percentage points. Excluding currency, the trailing three-month underlying order growth rate improved again and was at the highest level since orders turned positive in February.

Process Management trailing three-month underlying orders excluding currency strengthened as MRO demand continued. Currency exchange rates negatively impacted orders by approximately 11 percentage points. Project orders have increased, mainly focused on small and medium size projects. Mega-project quoting activity has increased, but is not expected to have an impact until later in 2011.

Industrial Automation order growth remained very high across all businesses, with particular strength in the power generating alternators, electrical drives, and power transmission businesses.

Orders for Network Power continued to strengthen and were up 10 percent. Growth in the embedded power, inbound power and embedded computing businesses was partially offset by modest declines in the network power business in Asia. Excluding the currency impact, modest growth resumed in the uninterruptible power supply and precision cooling business.

Climate Technologies trailing three-month orders remained strong globally, but order growth is moderating as Climate Technologies moves into a period of more difficult comparisons. Key drivers of order growth are broad strength across Asian end markets, as well as European refrigeration, North American residential replacement and stationary refrigeration, and global transport end markets.

Appliance and Tools order growth remained in the 5 to 10 percent range. Growth in the tools, motors and appliance businesses was partially offset by weakness in the residential storage business.
