MARKET OVERVIEW AND OUTLOOK

The Fund's bond exposure on December 31, 2006 was 59%, unchanged from its position on September 30. Average duration (a measure of sensitivity to interest rates) was 6.3 years at year-end, versus 6.4 years at the close of the third quarter. If we were fully invested, 62.5% of our portfolio would be in bonds and 37.5% in stocks. Consequently, with 59% in bonds, we remain in about 94% of a full position (59%/62.5%).

The bond market featured two distinct periods in 2006. Yields on the benchmark 10-year Treasury note rose dramatically in the first half of the year, from 4.39% to a high in late June of nearly 5.25% -- then fell sharply over the second half to a low of 4.42% in early December. The 10-year note ended the year at 4.70%, meaning that the bond market posted a small positive return in 2006, when investors added the coupon yield to the slightly negative price return.

It was a difficult year to follow any trend. The Federal Reserve (the "Fed") tightened four times in the first half from a federal funds rate of 4.25% to 5.25%, then elected to hold steady for the remaining half of 2006. Uncertainty about Fed policy, combined with volatile commodity markets and global political events, created a challenging environment for bond investors.

Edgar Filing: ZWEIG TOTAL RETURN FUND INC - Form N-CSR

U.S. economic data also showed mixed signals throughout the year. At times inflation seemed under control, while at other times, higher oil prices, a weak dollar and spikes in some commodities created nervousness. The fourth quarter provided a fitting ending to the year. It saw bond yields gyrate higher for most of October before plummeting late in the month. They dipped further in November to the lowest yields since January, only to get pushed higher again in December on stronger-than-expected jobs data and inflation.

Overall, we are satisfied with the fixed income performance of the Fund for the year. We held a slightly defensive position for most of the first half and used the sell-off in June to increase our bond exposure. The fixed income portion of the Fund ultimately did add to the return for the year. While we cannot predict the future, it seems that most commodities, and particularly oil prices, have begun to trend lower, which would be somewhat supportive of lower bond yields and, consequently, higher bond prices. However, seasonally, the first quarter has not been kind to bonds in recent history, so some caution is warranted.

Our bond model, which had been relatively neutral, increased recently and has been trending somewhat more positive. Our bond exposure, specifically our duration, is higher than neutral. At this writing, we anticipate lower yields ahead. As always, we remain flexible and will stick to the dictates of our research which, given the recent volatility in the bond market, seems prudent.

Our exposure to U.S. common stocks was 33% on December 31, 2006, up slightly from 35% at the end of the third quarter. At this level, we are at about 93% of a full position (35%/37.5%).

After setting dozens of record highs from the start of October until the year-end, the Dow Jones Industrial Average/SM/ (the Dow) ended 2006 at 12,463.15 -- an increase of 16.3% for the year and fewer than 50 points from the peak of 12,510.57 touched on December 27. For the year, the Nasdaq Composite(R) Index (the Nasdaq) gained 9.5% to 2,415.29 and the S&P 500(R) Index (the S&P 500) climbed 13.6% to 1,418.30. Overall, it was the best year for the markets since 2003 --when the Dow rose 25.3%, the Nasdaq soared 50%, and the S&P 500 was up 26.4%.

Most of the gain came in the fourth quarter, after it became apparent that the Fed had decided to keep its rate increases at bay. We believe that the election was a positive factor for the market. Ordinarily, the market prefers the Republicans to win, but the market started to perk up even when it was quite likely the Democrats would control the House and, in all likelihood, the Senate. We like the fact that the market was acting well on supposedly bad news. After the election, the market continued to climb. Perhaps investors wanted political gridlock with a Republican president and a Democratic congress. Another factor for the strong run was the takeover rush. There was a large amount of cash circulating that was winding up in the market.

As it had done in its last three previous meetings, the Fed left its short-term interest rate unchanged at 5.25% at its December session. In its statement, the Fed noted that economic growth had slowed partly, "...reflecting a substantial cooling of the housing market..." and saw the economy expanding at a moderate pace in coming quarters. While the Fed noted, "...inflation pressures seem likely to moderate over time," it simultaneously warned that, "...some inflation risks remain." It added that, "...the extent and timing of additional firming..." will depend on "...the evolution of the outlook for both inflation and economic growth."

On the inflation front, the main factor is the drop in commodity prices, especially that of crude oil. It has fallen about a third from its peak. The higher oil prices had put a crimp in the economy, and the lower levels could be a stimulant, leading to inflationary trends. Probably that is what gives the Fed concern. However, at this point, it is not something we are worried about.

The housing slump and slower vehicle sales were factors in the cooling of the gross domestic product (GDP) annual growth rate from a robust 5.6% in the first quarter of 2006 to 2% in the third quarter, according to the Commerce Department. The slower growth was accompanied by mixed news on inflationary pressures. Consumer prices were unchanged in November, following 0.5% declines in both September and October, while producer prices rose 2%.

Right now, the economy and inflation seem to be roughly in balance. The economy is decent but not strong and inflation seems in control. We believe that overall, the situation is close to the so-called "Goldilocks" scenario where the market is not too hot or too cold.

Part of the recent strength in the stock market has been attributed to the flood of mergers and acquisitions. Thomson Financial reports that the value of deals in the U.S. jumped 36% in 2006 to $1.56 trillion. This figure is close to the record $1.7 trillion set in 2000.

Takeover firms have done fairly well and have been able to raise more and more money. It is money that makes the market go and institutional money has been pouring in. We have heard numbers that are north of a trillion dollars that they now have under their control. The amount of cash held by corporations is probably close to double what was normal a decade ago. After the recession and 9/11, corporations became timid and hoarded their cash. Since they aren't spending as much on capital equipment, they have to do something with the funds. Some increased their dividends; others bought back their stock; still others bought another company. These are all bullish moves.

While we believe there is a correlation between merger mania and market highs, we are not likely at that point yet. There is so much money out there ready to be put to work and the market is not wildly valued either. Eventually, it could get out of bounds and then we would have to pay the piper. But we believe it is too early to worry about that.

Also making news last year was the surge in initial public offerings (IPOs). Dialogic reported that 78 new issues came out in the U.S. during the final three months of 2006, raising $16.68 billion, the highest total since the final quarter of 1999. This was a substantial gain from the 48 stocks that raised $7.6 billion in the same time frame in 2005. For all of 2006, there were 198 newly listed companies that raised $44.1 billion.

Although the number is huge, we do not consider it to be out of control. This is not 1999. We're not seeing the clunky ones, the start-ups without earnings that triple on the first day. Although the IPOs' growth trend will continue, we do not consider the current amount unusually large.

As more new issues were coming out, more companies were buying back their own stock. Standard & Poor's reported that companies in the S&P 500 bought back an estimated $110 billion of their stock in the third quarter of 2006. This followed $117 billion buybacks in the second quarter and $110 billion in the first. All told, the nine-month total was $337 billion, an increase of 33% from the $245 billion in the same period in 2005.

These buybacks are another bullish factor. The real question when the company buys back its own stock is whether it is reasonably priced or cheap. Back in the late '90s, some companies were buying in their own stock at multiples we felt were inappropriate. But now the market does not seem to be too lofty on a valuation basis. Some companies are probably overpaying, but on average, valuations seem fine overall.

Incidentally, a significant reason for the buyback is that companies don't want to be taken over. If they sit on a mountain of cash, they are likely to become a target. Conversely, if they buy their own stock, they have less cash and tend to be less attractive for a takeover. With buybacks, they are also seeking to raise the price of their stock. We believe the trend of stock buybacks as a defense against takeovers will continue.

Although remaining respectable, corporate earnings are expected to slow their growth rate. Standard & Poor's estimated that companies in its 500-Stock Index in the fourth quarter of 2006 were 9% above the 2005 figure. After 18 consecutive quarters of double-digit growth, this would be the first quarter with a single-digit gain. Earnings in the third quarter were at an exceptionally strong 19%. Looking ahead, Thomson Financial predicts that earnings per share for these companies will slip below 10% in 2007, making this year the first since 2002 with single-digit growth. That would still be above the long-term average growth of 7.5%.

Forecasts of lower earnings are made in advance of every quarter and they frequently turn out to be too low. It is difficult to know whether the overall growth rate will slow. Every industry has a different outlook. For example, the drop in oil prices will help many companies, but hurt the oil companies, which represent a major market sector. Without making any predictions, we don't see earnings running off the track soon.

The dollar slipped sharply in 2006 against the euro and the British pound. The euro gained 11.49% and the British pound, 13.8%. Both were close to record highs against the dollar. Meanwhile, the Dow Jones Index of stocks outside the U.S. climbed 23% in 2006. The strong markets abroad and the cheaper dollar are combining to make foreign stocks more attractive to U.S. investors as far as potential appreciation, capital gains and dividends are concerned. That's why such a tremendous amount of money is pouring into foreign funds. However, these investments are, of course, not guaranteed. If the dollar reverses its course, these investors could get hurt. That will likely happen eventually, but it is impossible to predict when.

At year-end, companies in the S&P 500 were trading at 18.2 times operating earnings, slightly above the 17.9 valuation in September, but below the 19.2 figure at the close of 2005. Data from Thomson Financial placed the price-to-earnings ratio of the S&P 500 in 2007 at about 15 times estimated earnings. This coincides with the long-term average. There are analysts who believe the market is undervalued, but we don't consider the current levels to be that unreasonable. Given the state of the economy and the inflation level, the market appears to us to be fairly valued.

Indicating that many investors borrowed money to buy stocks during the market rally, margin debt, as reported by Ned Davis Research, increased 21% from February through November. At the end of November, margin debt was put at 2% of GDP, the highest percentage since November 2000. Much of the margin surge is due to hedge fund borrowing and these funds are under-invested. What we are not seeing at this time is the public plunging heavily into margin and later running into trouble.

There has been mounting concern about the long-running inverted yield curve, with yields on short-term U.S. Treasury bills topping returns on long-term Treasury notes. In early January, the three-month Treasury bill yielded 5.05% against a 4.648% rate on the 10-year note. This inversion had continued for about six months and, historically, recessions have frequently caused long-term inversions.

The yield curve used to be one of our favorite indicators, but times have changed. In the past, banks had limits on their loans and the economy would slow when the Fed raised interest rates. There are no such restrictions on banks now and the current inversion occurred because the bond market did very well.

Market advisers are very optimistic on the outlook. The year-end survey by Investors Intelligence showed 56% bulls and 20% bears. This was a significant increase from the end of the third quarter, when bulls stood at 49% and bears at 33% -- but not very different from the 2005 year-end, when there were 56% bulls and 24% bears. While there definitely is a lot more optimism in the marketplace than there was a few months ago, the level of optimism is still relatively subdued. For example, many analysts are predicting that the market will rise about 7% for this year, which is pretty normal.

In summary, the biggest positives for the market in 2006 included the previously discussed large levels of cash held by corporations, hedge funds and buyout companies. In addition, we are now in a pre-election year -- which, historically, has often proven to be the strongest year in the four-year presidential cycle -- a fact that should not be overlooked.

Although all sorts of negative things are happening around the world, the market keeps going up. It is climbing the proverbial wall of worry and is doing a pretty good job. All things considered, our market stance on equities is bullish.

Sincerely,

- (1) Closing Price -- New York Stock Exchange.
- (2) Total investment return is calculated assuming a purchase of a share of the Fund's common stock at the opening NYSE share price on the first business day and a sale at the closing NYSE share price on the last business day of each period reported. Dividends and distributions, if any, are assumed for the purpose of this calculation, to be reinvested at prices obtained under the Fund's Automatic Reinvestment and Cash Purchase Plan. Generally, total investment return based on net asset value will be higher than total investment return based on market value in periods where there is an increase in the discount or a decrease in the premium of the market value to the net assets from the beginning to the end of such years. Conversely, total investment return based on net asset value will be lower than total investment return based on market value in periods where there is a decrease in the discount or an increase in the premium of the market value to the net asset value from the beginning to the end of such periods.
- (3) Computed using average shares outstanding.

THE ZWEIG TOTAL RETURN FUND, INC.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

December 31, 2006

NOTE 1 -- ORGANIZATION

The Zweig Total Return Fund, Inc. (the "Fund") is a closed-end, diversified management investment company registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 (the "Act"). The Fund was incorporated under the laws of the State of Maryland on July 21, 1988. The Fund's objective is to seek the highest total return, consisting of capital appreciation and current income, consistent with the preservation of capital.

NOTE 2 -- SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The following is a summary of significant accounting policies consistently followed by the Fund in the preparation of its financial statements. The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principals generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amount of increases and decreases in net assets from operations during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

A. Security Valuation:

Equity securities are valued at the official closing price (typically last sale) on the exchange on which the securities are primarily traded, or if no closing price is available, at the last bid price.

Debt securities are valued on the basis of broker quotations or valuations provided by a pricing service, which utilizes information with respect to recent sales, market transactions in comparable securities, quotations from dealers, and various relationships between securities in determining value.

Edgar Filing: ZWEIG TOTAL RETURN FUND INC - Form N-CSR

As required, some securities and other assets may be valued at fair value as determined in good faith by or under the direction of the Directors.

Certain foreign common stocks may be fair valued in cases where closing prices are not readily available or are deemed not reflective of readily available market prices. For example, significant events (such as movement in the U.S. securities market, or other regional and local developments) may occur between the time that foreign markets close (where the security is principally traded) and the time that the Fund calculates its net asset value (generally, the close of the NYSE) that may impact the value of securities traded in these foreign markets. In these cases, information from an external vendor may be utilized to adjust closing market prices of certain foreign common stocks to reflect their fair value. Because the frequency of significant events is not predictable, fair valuation of certain foreign common stocks may occur on a frequent basis.

Short-term investments having a remaining maturity of 60 days or less are valued at amortized cost, which approximates market.

In September 2006, Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 157, "Fair Value Measurements" ("SFAS 157"), was issued and is effective for fiscal years beginning after November 15, 2007. SFAS 157 defines fair value, establishes a framework for measuring fair value and expands disclosures about fair value measurements. Management is currently evaluating the impact the adoption of SFAS 157 will have on the Fund's financial statement disclosures.

B. Security Transactions and Related Income:

Security transactions are recorded on the trade date. Dividend income is recorded on the ex-dividend date, or in the case of certain foreign securities, as soon as the Fund is notified. Interest income is recorded on the accrual basis. The Fund amortizes premiums and accretes discounts using the effective interest method. Realized gains and losses are determined on the identified cost basis.

C. Income Taxes:

It is the policy of the Fund to comply with the requirements of the Internal Revenue Code and to distribute substantially all of its taxable income to its shareholders. Therefore, no provision for federal income taxes or excise taxes has been made.

The Fund may be subject to foreign taxes on income, gains on investments or currency repatriation, a portion of which may be recoverable. The Fund will accrue such taxes and recoveries as applicable based upon current interpretations of the tax rules and regulations that exist in the markets in which they invest.

In June 2006, the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) issued FASB Interpretation 48 ("FIN 48"), "Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes." This standard defines the threshold for recognizing the benefits of tax-return positions in the financial statements as "more-likely-than-not" to be sustained by the taxing authority and requires measurement of a tax position meeting the more-likely-than-not criterion, based on the largest benefit that is more than 50 percent likely to be realized. FIN 48 is effective as of the beginning of the first fiscal year beginning after December 15, 2006, with early application permitted if no interim financial statements have been issued. At adoption, companies must adjust their financial statements to reflect only those tax positions that are more likely-than-not to be sustained as of the adoption date. The evaluation of the impact that will result from adopting FIN 48 is in progress.

D. Dividends and Distributions to Shareholders:

Distributions are recorded by the Fund on the ex-dividend date. Income and capital gain distributions are determined in accordance with income tax regulations, which may differ from accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. These differences may include the treatment of non-taxable dividends, market premium and discount, non-deductible expenses, expiring capital loss carryovers, foreign currency gain or loss, operating losses and losses deferred due to wash sales. Permanent book and tax basis differences relating to shareholder distributions will result in reclassifications to capital paid in on shares of beneficial interest. As of December 31, 2006, the Fund increased undistributed net investment income by $29,476,927, decreased the accumulated net realized loss by $4,791,866, and decreased capital paid in on shares of beneficial interest by $34,268,793.

The components of distributable earnings on a tax basis (excluding unrealized appreciation (depreciation) which is disclosed in the Schedules of Investments and Securities Sold Short) consist of undistributed ordinary income of $0 and undistributed long-term capital gains of $0.

The Fund has $21,681,438 of capital loss carryovers, $16,906,512 expiring in 2010 and $4,774,926 expiring in 2011, which may be used to offset future capital gains. The Fund may not realize the benefit of these losses to the extent it does not realize gains on investments prior to the expiration of the capital loss carryovers. For the fiscal year (the "period") ended December 31, 2006, the Fund utilized losses deferred in prior years of $6,099,018.

In addition, under certain conditions, the Fund may lose the benefit of these losses to the extent that distributions to shareholders exceed required distribution amounts as defined under the Internal Revenue Code. Shareholders may also pay additional taxes on these excess distributions.

E. Foreign Currency Translation:

Foreign securities and other assets and liabilities are valued using the foreign currency exchange rate effective at the end of the reporting period. Cost of investments is translated at the currency exchange rate effective at the trade date. The gain or loss resulting from a change in currency exchange rates between the trade and settlement dates of a portfolio transaction is treated as a gain or loss on foreign currency. Likewise, the gain or loss resulting from a change in currency exchange rates between the date income is accrued and paid is treated as a gain or loss on foreign currency. The Fund does not isolate that portion of the results of operations arising from changes in exchange rates and that portion arising from changes in the market prices of securities.

F. Foreign Security Country Determination:

A combination of the following criteria is used to assign the countries of risk listed in the Schedule of Investments and Securities Sold Short: country of incorporation, actual building address, primary exchange on which the security is traded and country in which the greatest percentage of company revenue is generated.

G. Options:

The Fund may write covered options or purchase options contracts for the purpose of hedging against changes in the market value of the underlying securities or foreign currencies.

The Fund will realize a gain or loss upon the expiration or closing of the option transaction. Gains and losses on written options are reported separately in the Statement of Operations. When a written option is exercised, the proceeds on sales or amounts paid are adjusted by the amount of premium received. Options written are reported as a liability in the Statement of Assets and Liabilities and subsequently marked-to-market to reflect the current value of the option. The risk associated with written options is that the change in value of options contracts may not correspond to the change in value of the hedged instruments. In addition, losses may arise from changes in the value of the underlying instruments, or if a liquid, secondary market does not exist for the contracts.

The Fund may purchase options, which are included in the Fund's Schedule of Investments and subsequently marked-to-market to reflect the current value of the option.

When a purchased option is exercised, the cost of the security is adjusted by the amount of premium paid. The risk associated with purchased options is limited to the premium paid.

H. Short Sales:

A short sale is a transaction in which the Fund sells a security it does not own in anticipation of a decline in market price. To sell a security short, the Fund must borrow the security. The Fund's obligation to replace the security borrowed and sold short will be fully collateralized at all times by the proceeds from the short sale retained by the broker and by cash and securities deposited in a segregated account with the Fund's custodian. If the price of the security sold short increases between the time of the short sale and the time the Fund replaces the borrowed security, the Fund will realize a loss, and if the price declines during the period, the Fund will realize a gain. Any realized gain will be decreased, and any realized loss increased, by the amount of transaction costs. On ex-dividend date, dividends on short sales are recorded as an expense to the Fund. The collateral includes the deposits with the broker for securities held short and the value of the segregated investments held long, as shown in the Schedule of Investments and Securities Sold Short. Short selling used in the management of the Fund may accelerate the velocity of potential losses if the prices of securities sold short appreciate quickly. Stocks purchased may decline in value at the same time stocks sold short may appreciate in value, thereby increasing potential losses. At December 31, 2006, there were no securities sold short.

I. Security Lending:

The Fund may loan securities to qualified brokers through an agreement with State Street Bank and Trust (the "Custodian"). Under the terms of the agreement, the Fund receives collateral with a market value not less than 100% of the market value of loaned securities. Collateral is adjusted daily in connection with changes in the market value of securities on loan. Collateral may consist of cash, securities issued or guaranteed by the U.S. Government or its agencies and the sovereign debt of foreign countries. Cash collateral has been invested in a short-term money market fund. Dividends earned on the collateral and premiums paid by the borrower are recorded as income by the Fund net of fees and rebates charged by the Custodian for its services in connection with this securities lending program. Lending portfolio securities involves a risk of delay in the recovery of the loaned securities or in the foreclosure on collateral.

NOTE 4 -- INVESTMENT ADVISORY FEES AND OTHER TRANSACTIONS WITH AFFILIATES

a) Investment Advisory Fee: The Investment Advisory Agreement (the "Agreement") between Phoenix/Zweig Advisers LLC (the "Adviser"), the Fund's investment adviser, and the Fund provides that, subject to the direction of the Board of Directors of the Fund and the applicable provisions of the Act, the adviser is responsible for the actual management of the Fund's portfolio. The Adviser is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Phoenix Investment Partners, Ltd. ("PXP"). PXP is an indirect, wholly-owned subsidiary of The Phoenix Companies, Inc. ("PNX"). The responsibility for making decisions to buy, sell or hold a particular investment rests with the Adviser, subject to review by the Board of Directors and the applicable provisions of the Act. For the services provided by the Adviser under the Agreement, the Fund pays the Adviser a monthly fee equal, on an annual basis, to 0.70% of the Fund's average daily net assets. During the period ended December 31, 2006, the Fund incurred advisory fees of $3,336,985.

b) Administration Fee: Phoenix Equity Planning Corporation ("PEPCO"), an indirect wholly owned subsidiary of PNX, serves as the Fund's Administrator (the "Administrator") pursuant to an Administration Agreement. Effective March 1, 2006, the Administrator receives a fee for financial reporting, tax services, and oversight of the subagent's performance at a rate of 0.065% of the Fund's average daily net assets. For the period January 1, 2006 through February 28, 2006, the rate was 0.13% of the Fund's average daily net assets. During the period ended December 31, 2006, the Fund incurred Administration fees of $361,210.

c) Directors Fee: The Fund pays each Director who is not an interested person of the Fund or the Adviser a fee of $10,000 per year plus $1,500 per Directors' or committee meeting attended, together with the out-of-pocket costs relating to attendance at such meetings. Any Director of the Fund who is an interested person of the Fund or the Adviser receives no remuneration from the Fund.

NOTE 5 -- INDEMNIFICATIONS

Under the Fund's organizational documents, its directors and officers are indemnified against certain liabilities arising out of the performance of their duties to the Fund. In addition, the Fund enters into contracts that contain a variety of indemnifications. The Fund's maximum exposure under these arrangements is unknown. However, the Fund has not had prior claims or losses pursuant to these contracts and expects the risk of loss to be remote.

NOTE 6 -- CAPITAL STOCK AND REINVESTMENT PLAN

At December 31, 2006, the Fund had one class of common stock, par value $0.001 per share, of which 500,000,000 shares are authorized and 93,312,556 shares are outstanding.

Registered shareholders may elect to have all distributions paid by check mailed directly to the shareholder by Computershare as dividend paying agent. Pursuant to the Automatic Reinvestment and Cash Purchase Plan (the "Plan"), shareholders not making such election will have all such amounts automatically reinvested by Computershare, as the Plan agent, in whole or fractional shares of the Fund, as the case may be. During the year ended December 31, 2006 and the year ended December 31, 2005, 421,068 and 0 shares, respectively, were issued pursuant to the Plan.

On December 19, 2006, the Fund announced a distribution of $0.043 per share to shareholders of record on December 29, 2006. This distribution has an ex-dividend date of January 3, 2007, and is payable on January 8, 2007.

NOTE 7 -- CREDIT RISK AND ASSET CONCENTRATIONS

In countries with limited or developing markets, investments may present greater risks than in more developed markets and the prices of such investments may be volatile. The consequences of political, social or economic changes in these markets may have disruptive effects on the market prices of these investments and the income they generate, as well as the Fund's ability to repatriate such amounts.

Edgar Filing: ZWEIG TOTAL RETURN FUND INC - Form N-CSR

The Fund may invest a high percentage of its assets in specific sectors of the market in its pursuit of a greater investment return. Fluctuations in these sectors of concentration may have a greater impact on the Fund, positive or negative, than if the Fund did not concentrate its investments in such sectors.

REPORT OF INDEPENDENT REGISTERED PUBLIC ACCOUNTING FIRM

To the Board of Directors and Shareholders of The Zweig Total Return Fund, Inc.

In our opinion, the accompanying statement of assets and liabilities, including the schedule of investments and securities sold short, and the related statements of operations and of changes in net assets and the financial highlights present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of The Zweig Total Return Fund, Inc. (the "Fund") at December 31, 2006, the results of its operations for the year then ended, the changes in its net assets for each of the two years in the period then ended and the financial highlights for each of the five years in the period then ended, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. These financial statements and financial highlights (hereafter referred to as "financial statements") are the responsibility of the Fund's management; our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits. We conducted our audits of these financial statements in accordance with the standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States). Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements, assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, and evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits, which included confirmation of securities at December 31, 2006 by correspondence with the custodian and brokers, provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

- (c) There have been no amendments, during the period covered by this report, to a provision of the code of ethics that applies to the registrant's principal executive officer, principal financial officer, principal accounting officer or controller, or persons performing similar functions, regardless of whether these individuals are employed by the registrant or a third party, and that relates to any element of the code of ethics described in Item 2(b) of the instructions for completion of Form N-CSR.

Potential Conflicts of Interests

There may be certain inherent conflicts of interest that arise in connection with the Mr. Neel's and Mr. Dickerson's management of each Fund's investments and the investments of any other accounts he manages. Such conflicts could arise from the aggregation of orders for all accounts managed by a particular portfolio manager, the allocation of purchases across all such accounts, the allocation of IPOs and any soft dollar arrangements that the Adviser may have in place that could benefit the Funds and/or such other accounts. The Board of Trustees/Directors has adopted on behalf of the Funds policies and procedures designed to address any such conflicts of interest to ensure that all transactions are executed in the best interest of the Funds' shareholders. The Advisers and Subadviser are required to certify their compliance with these procedures to the Board of Trustees on a quarterly basis. There have been no material compliance issues with respect to any of these policies and procedures during the Funds' most recent fiscal year ended December 31, 2006. Additionally, there are no material conflicts of interest between the investment strategy of a Fund and the investment strategy of other accounts managed by Mr. Neel and Mr. Dickerson since portfolio managers generally manage funds and other accounts having similar investment strategies.

(a) (3) Compensation Structure of Portfolio Manager(s) or Management Team Members

Edgar Filing: ZWEIG TOTAL RETURN FUND INC - Form N-CSR

For the most recently completed fiscal year ended December 31, 2006, following is a description of Mr. Neel's and Mr. Dickerson's compensation structure as portfolio managers of PZA and Euclid.

Phoenix Investment Partners, Ltd. and its affiliated investment management firms (collectively, "PXP"), believe that the firm's compensation program is adequate and competitive to attract and retain high-caliber investment professionals. Investment professionals at PXP receive a competitive base salary, an incentive bonus opportunity and a benefits package. Managing Directors and portfolio investment professionals who supervise and manage others also participate in a management incentive program reflecting their personal contribution and team performance. Highly compensated individuals can also take advantage of a long-term Incentive Compensation program to defer their compensation and reduce tax implications.

The bonus package for portfolio managers is based upon how well the individual manager meets or exceeds assigned goals and subjective assessment of contribution to the team effort. Their incentive bonus also reflects a performance component for achieving and/or exceeding performance competitive with peers managing similar strategies. Such component is further adjusted to reward investment personnel for managing within the stated framework and for not taking unnecessary risks. This ensures that investment personnel will remain focused on managing and acquiring securities that correspond to a fund's mandate and risk profile. It also avoids the temptation for portfolio managers to take on more risk and unnecessary exposure to chase performance for personal gain.

Finally, Portfolio Managers and investment professionals may also receive The Phoenix Companies, Inc. ("PNX") stock options and/or be granted PNX restricted stock at the direction of the parent's Board of Directors.

Following is a more detailed description of the compensation structure of the Fund's portfolio managers.

Base Salary. Each Portfolio Manager is paid a fixed base salary, which is determined by PXP and is designed to be competitive in light of the individual's experience and responsibilities. PXP management uses compensation survey results of investment industry compensation conducted by an independent third party in evaluating competitive market compensation for its investment management professionals.

Incentive Bonus. Generally, the current Performance Incentive Plan for portfolio managers at PXP is made up of three components:

- (1) Seventy percent of the target incentive is based on achieving investment area investment goals and individual performance. The Investment Incentive pool will be established based on actual pre-tax investment performance compared with specific peer group or index measures established at the beginning of each calendar year. Performance of the funds managed is measured over one, three and five-year periods against specified benchmarks and/or peer groups for each fund managed. Performance of the PNX general account and growth of revenue, if applicable to a particular portfolio manager, is measured on a one-year basis. Generally, individual manager's participation is based on the performance of each fund/account managed as weighted roughly by total assets in each of those funds/accounts.

- (2) Fifteen percent of the target incentive is based on the profitability of the investment management division with which the portfolio manager is associated. This component of the plan is paid in restricted stock units of The Phoenix Companies, Inc., which vest over three years.
- (3) Fifteen percent of the target incentive is based on the portfolio manager's investment area's competencies and on individual performance. This pool is funded based on The Phoenix Companies, Inc.'s return on equity.

The Performance Incentive Plan applicable to some portfolio managers may vary from the description above. For instance, plans applicable to certain portfolio managers (i) may specify different percentages of target incentive that is based on investment goals and individual performance and on The Phoenix Companies, Inc. return on equity, (ii) may not contain the component that is based on the profitability of the management division with which the portfolio manager is associated, or (iii) may contain a guarantee payout percentage of certain portions of the Performance Incentive Plan.

Long-Term Incentive Bonus. Certain portfolio managers are eligible for a long-term incentive plan that is paid in restricted stock units of The Phoenix Companies, Inc. which vest over three years. Awards under this plan are contingent upon PNX achieving its cash return on equity objective, generally over a three-year period. Target award opportunities for eligible participants are determined by PNX's Compensation Committee.

Other Benefits. Portfolio managers are also eligible to participate in broad-based plans offered generally to the firm's employees, including broad-based retirement, 401(k), health and other employee benefit plans.

For the most recently completed fiscal year ended December 31, 2006, beneficial ownership of shares of the Fund by Messrs. Dickerson and Neel are as follows. Beneficial ownership was determined in accordance with rule 16a-1(a)(2) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (17 CFR 240.161-1(a)(2)).
