properties
since 1985

Developed 5 large scale CBM projects in four separate basins (Black Warrior, Raton, Central Appalachia and Cahaba Basins)

19 person technical, professional and project management team averages more than 16 years of CBM experience

Operational Characteristics

Proved reserves of 326 Bcf at YE 06 (75 % proved developed)

Long lived reserves with low finding and development and unit operating costs

Current net daily gas sales volumes of approximately 20 MMcf

100% operational control

Positioned for Growth

Large inventory of development locations in existing 100% W.I. projects

High potential in new development and exploration opportunities

Recent Developments
Gurnee Field Production

Field not yet responding like a typical CBM project and production has been essentially flat over the past four quarters

High-graded 2007 drilling program

Conducting new well-treatment techniques to increase production

Similar production difficulties encountered in the early stages of Pond Creek field development

Pond Creek Gathering Line Right-of-Way Litigation

May
