Glass Lewis Recommends Sabra Shareholders Vote FOR Proposed Transaction with Care Capital Properties

IRVINE, Calif., August 03, 2017 Sabra Health Care REIT, Inc. (Nasdaq:SBRA) (Nasdaq:SBRAP) (Sabra or the Company) today announced that leading independent proxy voting advisory firm, Glass, Lewis & Co., LLC (Glass Lewis), has recommended that Sabra shareholders vote FOR the Sabra common stock issuance proposal in connection with the pending merger with Care Capital Properties, Inc. (NYSE:CCP) (CCP) at the Company's upcoming Special Meeting of Stockholders on August 15, 2017.

In its August 3, 2017 report, Glass Lewis recognized the short term nature of Hudson Bay Capital (Hudson Bay) and Eminence Capital's (Eminence) positions, questioned their alignment with long-term Sabra shareholders and concluded:¹

In our view, though Hudson Bay and Eminence claim to have the interests of other Sabra shareholders in mind, given the short-term nature of their positions and likely investment horizons, accompanied by a lack of any alternative strategy for long-term value creation, we believe other shareholders of Sabra—particularly those who actually owned Sabra stock before the CCP acquisition announcement—should strongly consider the motivations of these new investors and whether their interests are aligned with the long-term interests of the Company and its other shareholders.

we also believe these opposing shareholders have misrepresented Sabra's strategic objectives and certain of its communications surrounding the CCP acquisition.

Glass Lewis also recognized that Sabra's Board of Directors and management team are well equipped to evaluate the transaction, manage CCP's portfolio and best serve the interests of Sabra shareholders:

In general, we believe that management and the board are in the best position—with more information and experts at their disposal—to make decisions regarding a company's business strategy, operations and allocation of capital.

we believe that Sabra management has presented a compelling case that the merger remains reasonable and offers several strategic and financial benefits for the Company and its shareholders.

Moreover, we believe the combined board and management team will be able to draw upon their vast experience as investors, owners and operators of healthcare facilities in navigating the near-term industry and integration issues while preserving the accretive nature of the transaction and the opportunity to significantly enhance shareholder value.

Glass Lewis also recognizes the appropriate valuation for the CCP transaction:

Edgar Filing: Care Capital Properties, Inc. - Form 425

Based on our analyses, the modest market premium, fair exchange ratio and low valuation multiples for an out-of-favor asset portfolio are all indicative of a reasonable deal from a valuation perspective.

we believe the premium is likely much lower than the opposing shareholders contend and that a modest premium would still be acceptable from a buyer's perspective given the expected scale, capital and synergistic benefits expected to be realized.

Commenting on the Glass Lewis recommendation, the Company issued the following statement:

We are pleased that Glass Lewis recognizes the compelling value created by our merger with CCP and has recommended that shareholders vote to approve the Sabra common stock issuance proposal.

The Sabra Board of Directors unanimously recommends that Sabra shareholders vote FOR the Sabra common stock issuance proposal at the upcoming Special Meeting of Stockholders. Sabra recommends shareholders submit their votes by Internet or by telephone following the instructions shown on their proxy or voting instruction cards. Shareholders may also vote by marking, signing and dating their proxy or voting instruction card and returning the card by mail.
