NOTICE TO THE MARKET

CSN files lawsuit against Grupo Ternium to require the launch of a public tender offer for the acquisition (OPA) of Usiminas minority shareholders' shares

1) On January 16, 2012, a transaction ("Transaction") was concluded through which Confab Industrial S.A., Prosid Investments S.C.A., Siderar S.A.I.C. and Ternium Investments S.à.r.l ("Grupo Ternium") acquired 43.3% of the common shares pertaining to the controlling block of Usinas Siderúrgicas de Minas Gerais S.A. - Usiminas , of which (i) 40.67% was held by the Votorantim and Camargo Corrêa groups, and (ii) 2.65% by Caixa dos Empregados da Usiminas, the Usiminas Employees' Pension Fund ("CEU"). On the same date, Nippon Steel acquired 2.65% of common shares making up the controlling block of Usiminas held by CEU.

2) The price paid by Grupo Ternium to acquire said common shares pertaining to the controlling block of Usiminas was R$36.00 per share, totaling close to R$5 billion, representing a premium of approximately 90% over the market price of Usiminas' common shares (USIM3) on November 28, 2011, the date on which the Transaction was announced.

3) The Transaction resulted in the execution of a new Usiminas Shareholders' Agreement among Grupo Ternium, Grupo Nippon and CEU ("New Shareholders' Agreement"), replacing in its entirety the Shareholders' Agreement of November 6, 2006 hitherto in effect ("Prior Agreement"). On that occasion, it was announced to the market that the New Shareholders' Agreement had been executed under "essentially identical terms" to the Prior Agreement. However, the New Shareholders' Agreement included substantial modifications which resulted in a new political and corporate structure for Usiminas and, consequently, a new balance of power within the controlling block. Examples include the granting of veto powers to Grupo Ternium in regard to all matters to be resolved by Usiminas Board of Directors' Meetings and Shareholders' Meetings, and the fact that CEU no longer plays its historical role in the balance of power, having lost its prerogative of having the casting vote in discussions within the controlling group.

4) Since the conclusion of the Transaction, Usiminas has been undergoing a thorough reorganization, with the arrival of professionals linked to Grupo Ternium, who have taken over the most senior executive positions in Usiminas (including that of the CEO), as well as with important changes in strategy and management, as has been widely reported in the press.

5) It is CSN's understanding that the sale, at a high premium, of the shares representing 43.3% of Usiminas' controlling block, the execution and the impacts of the New Shareholders' Agreement, and the events subsequent to January 2012 show, unequivocally, (i) a change of shareholding control, pursuant to article 254-A of Brazilian Corporation Law, and (ii) that the Transaction is different from the precedents already analyzed by the Brazilian Securities and Exchange Commission ("CVM") regarding the same matter.

6) CSN understands that Grupo Ternium, in breach of Brazilian Corporation Law, did not launch a public tender offer for the acquisition of shares (OPA), pursuant to said article 254-A, thereby causing grievous harm to Usiminas' minority common shareholders, who were not given the opportunity to sell their shares at a price at least equivalent to 80% of the premium paid to the selling shareholders (tag along).

7) In relation to the CVM's statement on the issue (MEMO/SRE/GER-1/Nº 14/2012), it is CSN's understanding that such statement is not definitive and may be subject to review, as expressly stated by the CVM itself.

8) Given all the above, CSN has filed a lawsuit against Grupo Ternium, intending to secure the equity rights pertaining to CSN and Usiminas' other minority common shareholders, in accordance with the prevailing legislation.
