Account Forms

Effective as of June 1, 2004, the plan administrator will eliminate the account election form. After this date, you should use the revised account authorization form to make changes to your plan account that you previously requested on the account election form. The transaction request form remains the same. For additional information relating to account forms, see question 5 in the prospectus.

Money Orders

The plan administrator will no longer accept money orders for optional cash investments. For additional information relating to optional cash investments, see question 13 in the prospectus.

Uncollected Optional Cash Investments

If your optional cash investment, made by check or automatic withdrawal, is returned for any reason and the plan administrator has already credited your account for the purchase, it will sell the purchased shares and debit your account. The plan administrator will also charge a $25 returned funds fee. The plan administrator will collect this fee and any market loss incurred on the sale of the shares through the sale of additional shares from your plan account.

Direct Deposit of Sale Proceeds

When submitting a transaction request form that requests net proceeds from the sale of all or part of your shares be deposited directly to a bank account, you must provide a voided blank check or savings deposit slip. If you are unable to provide a voided check or deposit slip, you may submit your bank information in writing with your signature(s) medallion guaranteed. In the event you are unable to provide the necessary documentation described above, the plan administrator will send you a check for the net proceeds. For additional information relating to selling shares in your plan account, see question 25 in the prospectus.

Termination Requests

If you submit a request to close your account that is received on or after a dividend record date but before the payment date, the plan administrator will process your termination as soon as practicable. The plan administrator will not reinvest the dividend and will mail a separate dividend check to you. For additional information relating to closing your plan account, see question 31 in the prospectus.
