Item 1.03 Bankruptcy or Receivership.

On Friday, April 29, 2011, Community Central Bank, the wholly-owned subsidiary and principal asset of Community Central Bank Corporation (the "Corporation"), was closed by the Michigan Office of Financial and Insurance Regulation ("OFIR"), which appointed the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (the "FDIC") as receiver of the Bank.

In connection with the closure of Community Central Bank, the FDIC issued a press release, dated April 29, 2011, announcing the following:

- The FDIC entered into a purchase and assumption agreement with Talmer Bank & Trust, Troy Michigan ("Talmer Bank"), formerly known as First Michigan Bank, to assume all of the deposits of Community Central Bank.
- Community Central Bank's 4 branch offices will reopen on Saturday, April 30, 2011, as branches of Talmer Bank. Depositors of Community Central Bank will automatically become depositors of Talmer Bank and deposits will continue to be insured by the FDIC, up to the applicable limits established by law.
- In addition to assuming Community Central Bank's deposits, Talmer Bank agreed to purchase essentially all of Community Central Bank's $476.3 million in total assets. The FDIC and Talmer Bank entered into a loss-share transaction on $362.4 million of Community Central Bank's assets.
- Customers who have questions about the foregoing matters, or who would like more information about the closure of Community Central Bank, can visit the FDIC's Internet website located at <http://www.fdic.gov/bank/individual/failed/communitycentral.html>, or call the FDIC toll-free at 1-800-894-6992.

A complete copy of the FDIC's press release can be found on the Internet at <http://www.fdic.gov>.

Item 2.04 Triggering Events That Accelerate or Increase a Direct Financial Obligation or an Obligation under an Off-Balance Sheet Arrangement.

The appointment of a receiver for Community Central Bank on April 29, 2011, as reported in Item 1.03 above, has resulted in an event of default under the terms of the Corporation's outstanding junior subordinated debt securities and related trust preferred securities of Community Central Capital Trust II (unconsolidated subsidiary of the Corporation). Upon occurrence of this event of default, the entire outstanding balance and all accrued but unpaid interest relating to the trust preferred securities of Community Central Capital Trust II became immediately due and payable. As of April 29, 2011, the outstanding balance of trust preferred securities of Community Central Capital Trust II was $18.0 million, plus accrued but unpaid distributions of approximately $1.4 million as of that date.

Item 5.02 Departure of Certain Officers; Election of Directors; Appointment of Certain Officers; Compensatory Arrangements of Certain Officers.

On April 29, 2011, immediately following the closure of Community Central Bank, its entire board of directors was dismissed and the employment of executive officers Ray T. Colonius, Interim President and Chief Financial Officer, Sam A. Locricchio, Executive Vice President and Sr. Loan Officer and Robert Critchfield, Executive Vice President and Chief Credit Officer with the Bank was terminated.

Item 8.01 Other Events.

As of April 29, 2011, the Corporation's primary assets, excluding its investment in Community Central Bank and its investment in Community Central Capital Trust II, which investments are expected to be written off completely, consisted primarily of cash [and cash equivalents] of approximately $55,000. Liabilities were comprised primarily of junior subordinated debt of $18.0 million and accrued and unpaid interest of approximately $1.4 million. The only source of income for the Corporation was the Bank. Accordingly, the Corporation is insolvent and without the personnel or resources to conduct its affairs. As a result, the Corporation does not expect to conduct any future business or to be able to comply with its ongoing corporate and disclosure obligations.
