IPC SHAREHOLDERS: DON'T ACCEPT A BAD DEAL FOR IPC VOTE AGAINST THE PROPOSED MAX AMALGAMATION ON THE GOLD PROXY CARD TODAY!

Dear Fellow IPC Shareholder,

As you may know, Validus Holdings, Ltd. ( Validus ) recently announced an offer for a compelling strategic combination with IPC Holdings, Ltd. ( IPC ) to create a market-leading carrier in Bermuda's short-tail reinsurance and insurance market ( the Validus Offer ). Under the Validus Offer, each IPC common share would be exchanged for 1.2037 Validus common shares, providing you with an 18% premium based on the closing prices of both companies on March 30, 2009, the last trading day prior to the announcement of the Validus Offer, and the opportunity to share in the significant growth potential of the combined company. We believe that the Validus Offer is superior to IPC's previously announced amalgamation agreement with Max Capital Group Ltd. ( Max ), in which IPC shareholders would receive no consideration and significantly increased exposure to risky assets and underperforming business lines.

Under the terms of the proposed Max amalgamation agreement, including a no-talk provision that has prevented IPC from even discussing our offer with us, we have been left with no other choice but to take our offer directly to IPC shareholders. As a critical first step in receiving the benefits of the Validus Offer, IPC shareholders must vote

AGAINST the proposed Max amalgamation. In doing so, you will send a strong message to the IPC Board that you want to receive the superior economics and value provided by Validus.

A VOTE AGAINST THE PROPOSED MAX AMALGAMATION STOPS THE IPC BOARD FROM HANDING OVER OPERATING CONTROL OF YOUR COMPANY WITH NO CONSIDERATION BEING PAID TO YOU

Under the proposed Max amalgamation, the combined company would be led by Max's existing senior management team, including its president and chief executive officer, chief operating officer, chief financial officer and general counsel in a transaction in which you would receive no consideration. In contrast, the Validus Offer provides IPC shareholders with an 18% premium based upon closing prices of IPC and Validus on March 30, 2009, the last trading day prior to the announcement of the Validus Offer. Moreover, we believe that the performance of Validus common shares in the market indicates that the market views Validus as an attractive investment: from the date of our IPO on July 24, 2007, to March 30, 2009, the last trading day prior to the announcement of the Validus Offer, our stock price increased 13%, while Max's stock price declined 37%. In short, rejecting the proposed Max amalgamation paves the way for you to receive what we believe is an attractive investment.

THE PROPOSED MAX AMALGAMATION TRANSACTION WILL MATERIALLY IMPAIR IPC'S BALANCE SHEET

According to Max's most recent Form 10-K, as of December 31, 2008, its holdings of alternative investments totaled 61% of its tangible equity, indicating a significant amount of embedded risk. The riskiness of the Max balance sheet is evident in the fact that Max wrote down the value of its alternative investments by $233 million in 2008, a markdown which exceeded its underwriting income. Also, IPC has publicly disclosed that it will have to add $130 million to Max's property and casualty and life and annuity reserves.

In contrast, Validus holds no alternative investments in its investment portfolio and has specific investment policies in place prohibiting it from investing in those asset classes. Moreover, we don't expect that the combination of Validus and IPC will require additions to IPC's or Validus' existing insurance reserves.

THE PROPOSED MAX AMALGAMATION WOULD COMBINE IPC WITH AN UNDERPERFORMING COMPANY UNDER THE GUISE OF DIVERSIFICATION

Under the proposed Max transaction, IPC's Board has chosen to combine with an entity that in 2008 suffered a comprehensive net loss of $200.4 million, or $3.10 per Max diluted share. Additionally, Max's U.S. Specialty segment, the centerpiece of its diversified businesses, operated in 2008 with a combined ratio of 138.5%, indicating that it paid out significantly more money in claims and expenses than it received from premiums. The IPC Board's choice to combine with an underperforming company diversifies IPC and its shareholders into businesses which have earned returns well below what IPC earned on a standalone basis in the same period. Based on Max's history, we question whether a Max amalgamation will create any value for IPC shareholders. In contrast to Max's 2008 losses, Validus earned $45.3 million, or $0.61 per Validus diluted share, in 2008.

A VOTE AGAINST THE PROPOSED MAX AMALGAMATION PRESERVES YOUR RIGHT TO RECEIVE THE BENEFITS OF THE VALIDUS OFFER

The Validus Offer would provide:

IPC shareholders with the opportunity to receive a premium for your shares and an attractive investment in the form of Validus shares, which have historically outperformed Max shares.

A combined company with a strong balance sheet and minimal exposure to risky asset classes.

An experienced, proven and stable management team with substantial expertise operating in IPC's core lines of business.

The opportunity for IPC shareholders to benefit from stable, profitable diversification into attractive business lines with superior growth opportunities.

If IPC shareholders reject the proposed Max amalgamation, we hope the IPC Board will do the right thing and accept the Validus Offer. However, even without the support of IPC's Board, Validus has announced a clear plan to a timely closing of its acquisition of IPC.

We intend to commence an Exchange Offer for all of the outstanding common shares of IPC. If the conditions of our Exchange Offer are satisfied, we believe we would be able to acquire IPC shares under our Exchange Offer in June. Validus is also pursuing a Scheme of Arrangement in the Supreme Court of Bermuda as an alternative mechanism to allow IPC shareholders to receive our superior offer.

However, you must first vote AGAINST the proposed Max amalgamation to preserve your opportunity to benefit from the Validus Offer. We urge you to send the IPC Board a clear message that IPC shareholders reject the Max amalgamation and that the IPC Board should accept the Validus Offer.

REJECT THE MAX AMALGAMATION: VOTE YOUR GOLD PROXY CARD TODAY

If your IPC shares are held in your own name, please vote AGAINST Proposal #8, which is for the issuance of shares in connection with the proposed Max amalgamation, sign, date and return the enclosed GOLD proxy card in the postage-paid envelope we have provided. This preserves your right to receive the benefits of the Validus Offer. If you hold your IPC shares in street name with a bank, brokerage firm, dealer, trust company or other nominee, only they can exercise your right to vote with respect to your shares and only after receiving your specific instructions. IT IS CRITICAL THAT YOU PROMPTLY GIVE INSTRUCTIONS TO YOUR BANK, BROKERAGE FIRM, DEALER, TRUST COMPANY OR OTHER NOMINEE TO ENSURE THAT A GOLD PROXY CARD IS SUBMITTED ON YOUR BEHALF. Please follow the instructions to authorize a proxy to vote on the enclosed GOLD proxy card. If your bank, brokerage firm, dealer, trust company or other nominee provides for voting instructions to be delivered to them by Internet or telephone, instructions are included with the enclosed GOLD proxy card. We urge you to confirm in writing your instructions to the person responsible for your account and to provide a copy of those instructions to us, care of Georgeson Inc., at 199 Water Street, 26th Floor, New York, New York 10038, or by facsimile at (212) 440-9009, or by email at validusIPC@georgeson.com so that we may be aware of all instructions given and are in a position to ensure that your instructions are followed.

We urge you not to return any white proxy card you may receive from IPC or otherwise authorize a proxy to vote your shares for the proposed Max amalgamation. If you have already returned a white proxy card to IPC or otherwise authorized a proxy to vote your shares for the proposed Max amalgamation, it is not too late to change your vote. To revoke your prior proxy and change your vote, simply sign and date the enclosed GOLD proxy card and return it in the postage-paid envelope provided. Only your latest dated proxy will be counted.

IPC shareholders of record as of April 28, 2009 are entitled to vote at the annual meeting. If you were an IPC holder on such date, you can still vote even if you have since sold your shares.

Georgeson Inc. is assisting Validus with its efforts to solicit proxies. If you have any questions about voting your IPC shares, please call Georgeson Inc. toll-free at (888) 274-5119 (banks and brokerage firms should call (212) 440-9800), or email validusIPC@georgeson.com.

Your vote is extremely important, regardless of how many or how few shares you own. To ensure your vote is counted, submit your vote on the GOLD proxy card so we receive it on or before June 12, 2009.

We thank you for your consideration and support.

Sincerely,

Edward J. Noonan
Chairman and Chief Executive Officer
Validus Holdings, Ltd.

VALIDUS HOLDINGS MOVES FORWARD ON THREE-PART PLAN TO EXPEDITE ACQUISITION OF IPC HOLDINGS

Commences Exchange Offer to Acquire IPC Shares

Filing Preliminary Proxy Materials Related to Scheme of Arrangement

Hamilton, Bermuda May 12, 2009 Validus Holdings, Ltd. ( Validus ) (NYSE: VR) today commenced an Exchange Offer for all of the outstanding common shares of IPC Holdings, Ltd. ( IPC ) (NASDAQ: IPCR). Under the terms of the Exchange Offer, IPC shareholders would receive 1.2037 Validus common shares for each IPC common share. The terms and conditions of the Exchange Offer are set forth in the offering documents that Validus is filing today with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the SEC ).

The Exchange Offer will expire at 5:00 p.m., New York City time (6:00 p.m., Atlantic time), on Friday, June 26, 2009, unless extended. The offering documents, including a preliminary prospectus/offer to exchange and a related letter of transmittal, describing the Exchange Offer and the means for IPC shareholders to tender IPC common shares into the offer will be delivered to IPC shareholders. Shareholder questions regarding the Exchange Offer or requests for offering documents should be directed to Validus Information Agent for the Exchange Offer, Georgeson Inc., toll-free at (800) 213-0317; banks and brokers should call: (212) 440-9800.

The agreement between IPC and Max precludes IPC from engaging in discussions with Validus, which has left us with no choice but to take our offer directly to IPC shareholders, said Ed Noonan, Validus Chairman and Chief Executive Officer. We believe IPC shareholders deserve the right to choose our superior offer over the Max transaction and our three-part plan gives them that opportunity.

As announced on April 30, Validus three-part plan includes: (1) soliciting IPC shareholders to vote AGAINST the proposed Max Capital Group Ltd. ( Max ) amalgamation, (2) commencing an Exchange Offer for all IPC common shares and (3) pursuing a Scheme of Arrangement under Bermuda law.

Validus noted that contrary to recent IPC assertions, Validus can complete the acquisition of IPC shares tendered in the Exchange Offer notwithstanding an IPC bye-law restricting the registration of transfer of share ownership of 10% or more. This is because while Validus will acquire beneficial ownership of the exchanged IPC shares, Cede & Co., which is already the registered owner of over 90% of the outstanding IPC shares, will continue to be the registered owner, and no registration of transfer for such shares will be necessary. Validus also noted that despite repeated statements by IPC to the contrary, Validus offer is not conditioned on the receipt of a specified rating by the rating agencies.

Scheme of Arrangement

In addition to commencing the Exchange Offer, Validus is today filing preliminary proxy materials with the SEC in connection with its previously announced plan to pursue a Scheme of Arrangement under Bermuda law. The Scheme of Arrangement, under which Validus would acquire all of the IPC common shares under the same economic terms as in the Exchange Offer, can be accomplished without the approval of the IPC Board if sanctioned by the Bermuda court and approved by IPC shareholders at two shareholder meetings:

A court-ordered meeting at which IPC shareholders can vote to approve the Scheme of Arrangement, and

If the IPC Board continues to be uncooperative despite shareholder approval at the court-ordered meeting, a second meeting at which IPC shareholders resolve for IPC to approve and to be bound by the Scheme of Arrangement and to terminate the IPC-Max amalgamation agreement.

Solicitation AGAINST Proposed Max Amalgamation

As previously announced on May 8, 2009, Validus filed its definitive proxy statement with the SEC in connection with the IPC annual general meeting of shareholders, which urges IPC shareholders to vote AGAINST the proposed Max amalgamation, and has commenced mailing such proxy materials to IPC shareholders.

VALIDUS COMMENTS ON BERMUDA COURT PROCEEDINGS

Hamilton, Bermuda May 14, 2009 Validus Holdings, Ltd. ( Validus ) (NYSE: VR) today issued the following statement regarding yesterday's decision by the Supreme Court of Bermuda not to expedite Validus' lawsuit against IPC Holdings, Ltd. ( IPC ) (NASDAQ: IPCR), IPC Limited and Max Capital Group Ltd. ( Max ). The lawsuit challenges the $50 million termination fee and no-talk provision contained in the IPC-Max Amalgamation Agreement.

Yesterday's ruling by the Supreme Court of Bermuda was only related to the timetable for the proceedings and was not a judgement on the merits of Validus' claims. The Judge acknowledged that Validus has raised serious questions to be tried. The Court's ruling has no effect on Validus' resolve to complete its acquisition of IPC, including the Exchange Offer we announced on May 12, 2009 and the Scheme of Arrangement, neither of which is conditioned on the elimination of the possible termination fee to Max.

Validus continues to recommend that IPC shareholders vote AGAINST the IPC-Max Amalgamation Agreement.

VALIDUS INCREASES OFFER FOR IPC HOLDINGS
Increased Offer Provides Total Current Consideration of $30.14 per IPC Share
13.2% Premium to Current IPC Share Price
Increased Offer Includes $3.00 Cash per IPC Share
Validus Urges IPC Board to Support Offer and IPC Shareholders to Vote AGAINST Max Amalgamation

Hamilton, Bermuda May 18, 2009 Validus Holdings, Ltd. ( Validus ) (NYSE: VR) today announced that it has delivered an increased offer to the Board of Directors of IPC Holdings, Ltd. ( IPC ) (NASDAQ: IPCR) for the amalgamation of Validus and IPC. Under the increased offer, IPC shareholders will now receive $3.00 in cash and 1.1234 Validus voting common shares for each IPC common share.

The increased offer provides IPC shareholders with total consideration of $30.14 per IPC share based on Validus closing price on Friday, May 15, 2009, a 13.2% premium to IPC's closing price that day and a 21.9% premium based on IPC's and Validus' closing prices on March 30, 2009, the last trading day before the announcement of Validus' initial offer. Under Validus' initial offer, IPC shareholders would have received 1.2037 Validus voting common shares, and no cash, for each IPC common share.

	Initial Offer	Increased Offer
Per IPC Share
Cash Consideration	$	$ 3.00
Exchange Ratio	1.2037	1.1234
Current Value Per IPC Share <sup>1</sup>
Cash	$	$ 3.00
Common Shares	29.08	27.14

Total	$ 29.08	$ 30.14
Premium To IPC Share Price <sup>1,2</sup>
% Premium	9.2%	13.2%
$ Premium	$ 2.45	$ 3.51

This increase underscores our strong commitment to the acquisition of IPC and reinforces the clear superiority of our offer over IPC's proposed amalgamation with Max Capital, stated Ed Noonan, Validus Chairman and Chief Executive Officer. In addition, by adjusting our exchange ratio, we are able to provide the IPC shareholders with a meaningful cash component, a request we have heard repeatedly from IPC shareholders whom we've talked to extensively over the last few weeks, along with the continued opportunity to benefit from being part of a leading Bermuda carrier in the short-tail reinsurance and insurance market. The combined company will have a global underwriting platform, quality diversification into profitable business lines with superior growth opportunities, a strong balance sheet and a proven management team.

Mr. Noonan continued, "Following numerous meetings with IPC shareholders, we believe there is widespread support for our acquisition of IPC, and in light of our increased offer, we urge the IPC Board of Directors to determine that our new proposal is superior to the transaction with Max and to withdraw its support for the Max amalgamation, which provides no consideration to IPC shareholders and significantly increases their exposure to risky assets and underperforming business lines. While we hope the IPC Board will do the right thing and support our increased offer which delivers even greater value to its shareholders, our Exchange Offer and the Scheme of Arrangement that we are pursuing under Bermuda law will allow us to complete a timely closing of our acquisition of IPC on the same economic terms as our increased offer even without the support of IPC's Board.

Validus is also amending the terms of its Exchange Offer for all of the outstanding common shares of IPC, as well as the Scheme of Arrangement, to reflect its increased offer for IPC. As previously announced, the Exchange Offer will expire at 5:00 p.m., New York City time (6:00 p.m., Atlantic time), on Friday, June 26, 2009, unless extended. The revised offering documents, including a new letter of transmittal, describing the improved economic terms of the Exchange Offer and the means for IPC shareholders to tender IPC common shares into the offer will be delivered to IPC shareholders. Shareholder questions regarding the Exchange Offer or requests for offering documents should be directed to Validus Information Agent for the Exchange Offer, Georgeson Inc., toll-free at (800) 213-0317 (banks and brokers should call (212) 440-9800), or email validusIPC@georgeson.com.

Vote AGAINST Proposed Max Amalgamation

Validus continues to urge IPC shareholders to preserve their right to receive the improved economic terms of the Validus offer by voting AGAINST the Max Capital amalgamation on the GOLD proxy card. Shareholders who have previously voted on IPC's white proxy card may obtain assistance in revoking or changing that vote by contacting Georgeson Inc. toll-free at (888) 274-5119 (banks and brokers should call (212) 440-9800), or email validusIPC@georgeson.com.

Copies of the transaction documents and an updated Validus investor presentation, detailing the benefits of Validus increased offer, will be available on its website at www.validusre.bm.
