The following factors, among others, could cause actual results to differ materially from the anticipated results or other expectations expressed in the forward-looking statements: (1) the risk that the businesses of First Union and Wachovia will not be integrated successfully or such integration may be more difficult, time-consuming or costly than expected; (2) expected revenue synergies and cost savings from the merger may not be fully realized or realized within the expected time frame; (3) revenues following the merger may be lower than expected; (4) deposit attrition, operating costs, customer loss and business disruption following the merger, including, without limitation, difficulties in maintaining relationships with employees, may be greater than expected; (5) the ability to obtain governmental approvals of the merger on the proposed terms and schedule; (6) the failure of First Union's and Wachovia's stockholders to approve the merger; (7) competitive pressures among depository and other financial institutions may increase significantly and have an effect on pricing, spending, third-party relationships and revenues; (8) the strength of the United States economy in general and the strength of the local economies in which the combined company will conduct operations may be different than expected resulting in, among other things, a deterioration in credit quality or a reduced demand for credit, including the resultant effect on the combined company's loan portfolio and allowance for loan losses; (9) changes in the U.S. and foreign legal and regulatory framework; and (10) adverse conditions in the stock market, the public debt market and other capital markets (including changes in interest rate conditions) and the impact of such conditions on the combined company's capital markets and asset management activities. FIRST UNION ISSUES UPDATE ON MERGER PROGRESS

Charlotte, N.C. -- First Union Corp. today issued the following statement regarding its proposed friendly merger of equals with Wachovia Corp.:

"Wachovia and First Union continue to work toward completion of our merger of equals -- a merger which, we believe, offers superior value to shareholders of both companies. First Union has made tremendous financial progress since the strategic repositioning announced in 2000, as evidenced by last week's strong earnings report. Together with Wachovia, we have made significant headway with our integration planning.

"We believe First Union's strong year-to-date share price performance -- an increase of approximately 26 percent -- is the real reason behind the virtual elimination of the premium associated with SunTrust's hostile proposal.

"As we explore the exciting possibilities of this combination, we are more firmly convinced than ever that the Wachovia/First Union merger proposal offers shareholders greater near-term and long-term growth potential."

First Union (NYSE:FTU), with $246 billion in assets and stockholders' equity of $16 billion at June 30, 2001, is a leading provider of financial services to 15
