Item 1.01 Entry into a Material Definitive Agreement.

Amendment of a Material Definitive Agreement

On September 1, 2017, SYNEX Corporation (“SYNEX”) announced that it has entered into an amendment to its Credit Agreement, initially dated as of November 27, 2013 (the “Credit Agreement”), with the lenders party thereto, Bank of America, N.A., as administrative agent, and certain United States subsidiaries of SYNEX, as guarantors (the “Credit Agreement Amendment”). Among other things, the Credit Agreement Amendment amends the Credit Agreement by:

- increasing the amount of the revolving loan commitment thereunder by $325 million, to $600 million
- increasing the amount of the term loan commitment thereunder by $575 million, to $1,200 million, of which $700 million has been advanced, with the remaining balance of up to $500 million capable of being advanced in one additional drawing over a six-month period ending in March 2018, and with the proceeds of all such term loans able to be used to finance working capital, make capital expenditures, make permitted acquisitions and for other lawful corporate purposes;
- increasing the amount of incremental commitments for revolving loans or term loans capable of being requested thereunder by $50 million, to $400 million;
- extending the maturity date for revolving loans and the existing term loan to five years from the date of the Credit Agreement Amendment, to September 1, 2022;
- decreasing the applicable margin on the rate of interest on loans borrowed under the Credit Agreement, which may now range, (A) in the case of LIBOR loans, from 1.25% per annum to 2.00% per annum based on SYNEX’ Consolidated Leverage Ratio (as defined in the Credit Agreement) and (B) in the case of base rate loans, from 0.25% per annum to 1.00% per annum based on SYNEX’ Consolidated Leverage Ratio;
- increasing the maximum Consolidated Leverage Ratio that SYNEX is required to maintain from 3.75 to 1.0, to 4.00 to 1.0; and
- replacing the fixed charge coverage ratio SYNEX was required to maintain, with a minimum Consolidated Interest Coverage Ratio (as defined in the Credit Agreement) of not less than 3.50 to 1.00.

The Credit Agreement Amendment also modifies the quarterly amortization payment schedule for repayment of the term loans described above, which is now repayable in an amount equal to 1.25% of the initial principal amount of each term loan made thereunder, with the remaining outstanding principal amount of the term loans due on the September 2022 maturity date.

The foregoing description of the Credit Agreement Amendment is qualified in its entirety by reference to the full text of the Credit Agreement Amendment which is attached hereto and filed as Exhibit 10.1 to this Current Report on Form 8-K and is incorporated herein by reference.
