Explanation regarding proper use of business forecasts, and other significant matters

Regarding the assumptions for the forecasts and other matters, refer to [Qualitative Information and Financial Statements] Section 1.(3) Qualitative Information on Consolidated Financial Performance Forecasts on page 4. The financial forecasts given above are based on information as available at the present time, and include potential risks and uncertainties. As a consequence of the factors above and other, actual results may vary from the forecasts provided above.

Edgar Filing: MAKITA CORP - Form 6-K

Makita's basic policy on the distribution of profits is to maintain a consolidated dividend payout ratio of 30% or greater, with a lower limit on annual cash dividends of 18 yen per share. However, in the event special circumstances arise, computation of the amount of dividends will be based on consolidated net income attributable to Makita Corporation after certain adjustments.

The Board of Directors plans to meet in April 2012 for a report on earnings for the year ending March 31, 2012. At the time, in accordance with the basic policy regarding profit distribution mentioned above, the Board of Directors plans to propose a dividend equivalent to at least 30% of net income attributable to Makita Corporation. The Board of Directors will submit this proposal to the General Meeting of Shareholders scheduled for June 2012.

The consolidated dividend payout ratio is calculated as annual dividends per share divided by consolidated net income attributable to Makita Corporation per share (after adjustments for special circumstances) and multiplied by 100.

[Qualitative Information and Financial Statements]

1. Qualitative Information for nine months ended December 31, 2011.

(1) Qualitative Information on Consolidated Operating Results

During the nine months (the period) ended December 31, 2011, the economy in Western Europe, which was on a recovery trend, lost momentum due to the effects of financial crisis. In the United States, the housing market remained sluggish and consumer spending hit plateau. In Asia and Central and South America, there were signs of a slowdown in economic growth because of a tight credit policy to curb inflation. In Japan, the economic recovery was anemic due to the effects of the yen's unprecedented appreciation against the Euro and the U.S. dollar and floods in Thailand, though production and consumption, which dropped after the Great East Japan Earthquake, gradually recovered.

Our consolidated net sales for this period increased by 9.3% to 223,673 million yen. This was because of the rollout of attractive new products as well as the success in expanding sales by making the most of our sales and service structures that have always been our strong point, although the yen's appreciation against other major currencies resulted in a decline in our overseas sales, combined with the sluggish housing market in developed countries. In terms of incomes, our operating income increased by 17.5% to 38,557 million yen (operating income ratio 17.2%) compared to the same period of the previous year because of an increase in sales. Meanwhile, income before income taxes showed a modest increase of 11.1% from the previous year to 36,012 million yen (income before income taxes ratio 16.1%) and net income attributable to Makita Corporation increased only by 6.8% from the previous year to 24,712 million yen (net income attributable to Makita Corporation ratio 11.0%) because of exchange loss amounting to 2,852 million yen resulting from drastic exchange rate fluctuations and because of realized losses on securities amounting to 643 million yen resulting from a fall in stock prices.

Net sales by region are as follows:

Net sales in Japan increased by 15.3% to 38,551 million yen compared to the same period of the previous year because of steady sales of lithium-ion battery products, the best lineup in the industry, and an increased demand resulting from post-quake restoration and reconstruction efforts.

Net sales in Europe increased by 8.3% to 93,666 million yen due to active demand in Russia, even though the growth of demand slowed down in Western Europe.

Net sales in North America decreased by 2.0% to 28,189 million yen because sales suffered a decline in value due to the yen's appreciation, even though strong sales, primarily lithium-ion battery products, continued amid a slumping U.S. housing market.

Net sales in Asia increased by 11.6% to 19,813 million yen as strong demand continued in Southeast Asian countries, even though China's tight credit policy and Thailand's flooding affected our sales.

Net sales in Central and South America and Oceania grew substantially. Net sales in Central and South America increased by 19.4% to 18,117 million yen as demand continued to be steady, while net sales in Oceania increased by 17.3% to 14,039 million yen as the economy remained robust. Net sales in the Middle East and Africa increased only by 2.7% to 11,298 million yen because their economic activities continued to be stagnated due to political uncertainties.

(2) Qualitative Information on Consolidated Financial Position

Total assets as of December 31, 2011 decreased by 15,798 million yen to 356,709 million yen compared to the balance as of March 31, 2011. The main reason is a decrease in value of the assets held by Makita's overseas subsidiaries due to the yen's appreciation and a decrease in Cash and cash equivalents, Time deposits, and Short-term investments that resulted from payment of dividends and other expenditures, even though Inventories increased thanks to production increase.

Total liabilities as of December 31, 2011 decreased by 7,439 million yen to 55,390 million yen compared to the balance as of March 31, 2011. This decrease was mainly due to the decrease in Trade notes and accounts payable.

Total equity as of December 31, 2011 decreased by 8,359 million yen to 301,319 million yen compared to the balance as of March 31, 2011. This decrease was mainly attributable to the increase in Accumulated other comprehensive loss due to a change in foreign currency translation.

adjustment because of the stronger yen against other currencies compared with that as of March 31, 2011, and purchases of the treasury stock.

2. Others

(1) Changes in important subsidiaries during the period (Changes in specified subsidiaries accompanied by changes in scope of consolidation during the quarter): None

(2) Adoption of simplified accounting methods and accounting methods that are specific to the preparation of quarterly consolidated financial statements:

With regard to the income tax expenses, Makita Corporation computes interim income tax expense by multiplying reasonably estimated annual effective tax rate, which includes the effects of deferred taxes, by year-to-date income before income taxes for the reporting period.

(3) Changes in accounting principles, procedures and presentations: None
