Item 5. Other Events

Altair Nanotechnologies Inc. (the "Company") is filing this Current Report on Form 8-K (this "Report") in order to provide a proforma balance sheet as of April 30, 2003, showing shareholders' equity in excess of $5 million. The Company believes that, as a result of having a pro forma shareholders' equity in excess of $5 million, it will qualify for an additional extension of 90 days beyond June 2, 2003 in order to meet the of the $1 minimum bid price requirement of the Nasdaq SmallCap Market.

As disclosed in prior reports, the Company's listing on the Nasdaq SmallCap Market is probationary as long as the market price of the Company's common shares remains below $1.00 per share. This probationary period expires on June 2, 2003, subject to a possible 90-day extension if, by that date, the Company satisfies the core initial listing requirements of the Nasdaq SmallCap Market other than the minimum bid price requirement.

One of the initial listing requirements of the Nasdaq SmallCap Market is that shareholders' equity (i.e. the amount by which a company's assets exceed its liabilities) exceed $5 million. The balance sheet of the Company included in the Company's Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q with respect to the quarter ended March 31, 2003 indicated that the Company's shareholders' equity as of March 31, 2003 was $4,042,471. Subsequent to March 31, 2003, the Company has completed two financing transactions (which are described in the notes the pro forma balance sheet set forth on the following page). As a result of such transactions, the Company's pro-forma shareholders' equity as of May 31, 2003 exceeds $5 million. The Company believes that it satisfies the other initial listing requirements (except the minimum bid price requirement) for the Nasdaq SmallCap Market and that, as a result, the Company may qualify for an additional 90-day probationary period during which to attempt to cause the market price of its common shares to rise above $1.00 per share. Nasdaq is not required to grant such exemption, however, and may determine for various reasons not to extend the probationary period and to commence delisting of the Company's common shares.

A pro-forma balance sheet of the Company as of April 30, 2003, with certain adjustments for subsequent expenditures and financing transactions, is set forth on the following page.
