ITEM 8.01 Other Events

As previously disclosed in Synalloy Corporation's filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission, including but not limited to the disclosure on Synalloy Corporation's Form 8-K dated January 9, 2017, a customer (the "Plaintiff") filed a lawsuit in January 2014 against Synalloy Corporation, a Delaware corporation ("Synalloy"), Synalloy's wholly-owned subsidiary, Palmer of Texas Tanks, Inc., a Texas corporation ("Palmer"), and an unrelated defendant in Texas state court alleging breach of warranty, among other claims. This matter arose out of products manufactured and sold by Palmer to the Plaintiff prior to Synalloy's acquisition of all of Palmer's outstanding stock in August 2012.

In August and September 2016, the parties to the lawsuit tried the matter in a bench trial in the District Court of Harris County, Texas, 333rd Judicial District (the "Court"). On December 31, 2016, the Court entered final judgment in favor of the Plaintiff and Synalloy and against Palmer. The Court ordered Palmer to pay the Plaintiff approximately $8.60 million in damages, plus pre- and post-judgment interest, and approximately $1.04 million in attorneys' fees. The Court ruled Synalloy has no liability to the Plaintiff.

Effective June 30, 2017, the parties executed settlement agreements to settle this litigation and, upon satisfaction of certain events, release the final judgment. Because the former shareholders of Palmer were contractually bound, pursuant to the Stock Purchase Agreement by and among Synalloy and the former shareholders dated August 10, 2012, to hold harmless and indemnify Synalloy and Palmer from any and all costs and damages, including the judgment described above and all associated attorneys' fees, arising out of this matter, neither Synalloy nor Palmer contributed to the payments required by Plaintiff to release the final judgment.

The former shareholders of Palmer have satisfied certain financial obligations to Plaintiff pursuant to the settlement agreements, and on August 31, 2017, the Plaintiff filed a Release of Judgment with the Court.
